WITCH-KILLERS.

Four Piutes Lodged in Jail Charged With Murder.

Sheriff Fellows arrived from Lovelocks last evening with four Piutes—three squaws and one buck—and lodged them in jail, all being implicated in the murder of a squaw near Lovelocks a few days ago. They admit their guilt but claim the deed was committed because the squaw murdered was a witch and had recently caused several deaths among the Piutes. The Sheriff informs us that the body was buried about ten miles from Lovelocks, and that it would have been impossible to have found it but for the assistance of an Indian who knew the location and who from fright was induced to divulge its whereabouts. The body was dug up and was found to be horribly mutilated. The victim was a Shoshone and that possibly is one cause why the act was done.

At the Coroner's Jury a verdict was found to the effect that the murdered squaw came to her death at the hands of four Piutes now in jail; and at the preliminary examination in the Justice Court they were bound over to appear before the next Grand Jury.

One of the prisoners has a nursing papoose. —Silver State.

An Attempted Outrage.

News was received Saturday that a Chinese cook at the Golconda hotel attempted to drug a young waitress whose parents reside in Battle Mountain with tincture of cantharides commonly termed Spanishfly. The report was given slight credence, but Sunday a telegram summoned the mother to Golconda, who learned the particulars. It seems the Chinaman had acted suspiciously so the girl was put on her guard. Last Saturday she observed the cook drop some liquid into her coffee. The young lady took it to Mrs. Gay and found it to contain cantharides; the properties for immoral purposes are well known. Luckily the coffee was not partaken of. When the people heard of the Chinaman's lascivious effort, where by he thought to place the girl at his mercy, there was talk of lynching, but good (?) counsel prevailed.

Nothing was said to the Mongol, until Sheriff Fellows of Winnemucca, walked into the kitchen. The minut the door was open "Me no puttem melicen white girls coffee," but the officer took him by the nape and hustled him off to Winnemucca. It was fortunate for Ah Sam that he did not die the death of dog before the law took its course. This is a lesson to all those who have Chinese domestics. They are unprincipled, and inherit a disregard of morality. In their endeavors they are sly, most crafty, and no matter how well rewarded are ready to betray a trust to gain an aim. —Central Nevadaian.
